Final Thoughts

Learninng programming to make useful programs

Learning programming to make games

Learning programming to make Reddit bots

Learning programming to hack source code from a crappy game you found on Steam and then debug it

Hire a bad programmer and learn programming to fix his software

Learn programming to make a top post on r/ProgrammingHumor